Although we don't have an official MIUI version at this time, we have made a huge progress and now we are able to bring MIUI back to HTC One M8. Our latest builds are based on Android 6.0.1 Marshmallow. This build can restore all the stock apps including HTC Sense 6 as well. This build is very stable, fast and is also one of the fastest ROMs currently available in the market. It comes with a clean UI with very few changes as compared to stock Android 6.0.1 Marshmallow. Changelog of the ROM: -New UI with latest material design -No bloatware -Clean AOSP build -Pure Android without any modifications -Stock wallpapers and icons Installation instructions: You need to download the following files: -The latest stable build of ADB (Note - The latest ADB might be not stable, so this will work) -The latest stable build of TWRP (note - The latest TWRP might be not stable, so this will work) -The

Android 6.0.1 (AOKP based) firmware for the device. We would also recommend to uninstall the previous versions from your device before installing this build. You can download the AOKP based Android 6.0.1 firmware below: -Use the above download links to download the Android 6.0.1 (AOKP based) firmware and extract the files on your phone. Once the extraction is completed, now you need to root your device using fastboot and then flash the ROM you have just extracted on your phone. Restart the device after flashing is complete. You have successfully installed the firmware on your phone. Note - If the download fails, use the Fastboot commands below: ``` fastboot flash boot zimage.7z fastboot flash recovery zimage.7z fastboot flash system zimage.7z fastboot flash cache zimage.7z fastboot flash userdata zimage.7z fastboot reboot``` You can now unroot the device using the following command: fastboot oem unlock``` If everything goes fine, your phone will now boot into TWRP. Now, you can proceed to flash the current ROM on your device using the below command: recovery flash boot
